How machines “see” images

Human perception → RGB Channels → Numeric Matrices

Before any convolutional filter can slide or detect patterns, an image is transformed into an array of numbers (0-255) stacked across Red, Green, and Blue channels.